Council Learns More about Consultants' Proposals for Ways to Clean up Lake

by Betsy Likowski

Building a larger pond to catch sediment, and harvesting water weeds, were two ways to clean up Greenbelt Lake discussed at a city council worksession on Thurs., September 8. In hopes of beginning work on the lake this winter, council will consider a plan of action at its next meeting on Sept. 19.

One-and-a-half years ago the city received a grant of $82,500 from the state for work on Greenbelt Lake. This must be matched by $ 27,500 in city funds.

The city hired consultants Dames & Moore of Bethesda to study the water quality of Greenbelt Lake and to improve the existing sediment forebay—the small separate body of water near the peninsula intended to stop sediment from one of two creeks from entering the lake.

In a report recently received by council, Dames & Moore suggested five alternative ways to keep some sediment and excess nutrients from entering the lake at its east end near the peninsula, and two ways to decrease the amount of weeds in the lake.

The proposed sediment control alternatives are: 1) build a 0.4 acre forebay, 2) build a 2.4 acre forebay, 3) build an underwater wall-like berm off the end of the peninsula to create the equivalent of a 1.8 acre forebay, in the lake and 4) build a berm off either side of the end of the peninsula for a one-acre in-lake forebay 5) alternatives 1 and 4 combined.

Celia Wilson, the city's Planning and Development Coordinator, explained at the worksession that the staff prefers alternative 5 because it would give improvement of water quality while minimizing disruption to the park.

Roger Copp, project engineer with Dames & Moore, explained that in alternative 5, rock riprap would be placed off either side of the peninsula. Even though the top of the resultant berm would be below the surface of the water, the berm would slow down the speed of the water entering the lake so that sediment and nutrients would settle out of the water in the forebays.

Copp explained that the area on either side of the peninsula would trap sediment and nutrients preserving the depth and water quality of the remainder of the lake. Eventually, the area around the peninsula would revert to wetlands.

Copp said that in estimating the cost of this plan at $87,000 it was assumed the city would temporarily lower the level of the lake so that contractors digging on the project can "grab it, touch it, feel it," permitting the city to avoid excess contingency costs. This would also make the actual work easier. A crane at the end of the peninsula would drop the rocks into the lake to build the berm.

Dredging would be done on both sides of the peninsula to create space in which sediment could accumulate. Copp suggested piling the dredged-up sediment on the former PEPCO site, next to Crescent Rd., but added, "I'm concerned about the height (of the material) we'll have there - about ten feet . . ." Mayor Gil Weidenfeld wondered if the dirt could be hauled for use in construction of Metro.

As for the proposed timetable of the project, Steve Kay, grants manager with the Maryland Department of Environment, Sediment and Stormwater Division, said that he would like to see the project go to bid by November. He mentioned that dredging prices are cheaper in the winter.

Councilmember Edward Putens asked if there is a permanent solution to the lake's problems. Copp and Kay said that there is not. Sediments and excess nutrients will continue to be carried to the lake by the streams. Copp estimated that dredging for maintenance would be needed every seven to 10 years.

Weeds

Copp suggested harvesting the water weeds now growing in the lake, or using special fish to eat them rather than using herbicides. He stressed that the weeds need to come out of the lake, to get rid of excess nutrients in the water. He warned that this cost would not be covered by the grant monies. Harvesting the weeds is estimated to cost $3,600 to $6,000 per year and would have to be done several years in a row. Copp suggested that the harvested weeds could be put west of the dam, where they would rapidly decrease in size. Kay added that the city could compost the harvested weeds anywhere by mixing them with wood chips.

Copp suggested that sterile grass carp could eat the weeds. This is still an experimental method of weed control. He said that the city should be sure the fish were sterile, for too many grass carp would eat too many useful plants. The goal is "to get rid of the coontail which forms mats on the surface and is non-rooted so it can roam around the lake," said Copp.

Councilmember Thomas X. White asked about the possibility of aerating the lake bottom. Copp said that aeration would be worth considering, for with no oxygen on the lake bottom during the summer, nutrients rise off the bottom and feed the plants, thus adding more plant growth to that already in the lake.

South End

Resa Jascourt, president of the Lakeside Citizen's Association, asked why nothing was being done about the sediment basin near the southern end of the lake. When it rains the silt flows directly into the lake, she maintained. She said that with this sediment still going into the lake, the work on the eastern end of the lake will be undone.

Assistant City Manager Michael McLaughlin explained that when the study was planned two years ago, the southern silt basin did not seem to need work.

Putens and Mayor pro tem Joseph Isaacs suggested this additional work could be done in the future.

Jascourt also worried that the condition of the southern end might worsen when construction begins on Parcel 15 (between the Beltway, Charlestowne Village and the lake park). Kay suggested that citizens can do their part to help by checking to make sure that the sediment barriers required by law around a construction site remain in place.

Streams

Werner Neupert of Lakeside Drive worried about erosion in the stream that flows by the tennis courts. He said the stream had widened considerably due to erosion and urged that stream bank stabilization be the next step.

Kay said that stream bank stabilization could not be funded by the state. Copp said it would be more expensive than building a forebay because the stream slope is so steep and many trees would be lost.

Ethelyn Bishop of Lakeside Drive said that the section of the creek near her house and the tennis courts had originally had a culvert and a check flow dam that had gradually broken away.

Keith Chernikoff, chairman of the Parks and Recreation Advisory Board said that people had complained to him about the cement slabs the city had dumped on the stream banks near the lake trail. McLaughlin replied that the city planned to break the slabs down and cover them with dirt, but that he would have to speak with the Director of the Public Works Department, George Smith, about it.

SHL Couple Found Dead

The bodies of a 22-year-old woman and a 31-year-old man were found in an apartment at 6202 Breezewood Drive in Springhill Lake on September 7. According to the Greenbelt police, the bodies were found by members of the woman's family who had become concerned about her. The police said that it appears that both the man and woman died of gunshot wounds in an apparent murder/suicide. The police have identified the deceased woman as Wonda Elaine Tyler and the man as Gregory Joseph Wiles. Both resided at the above address.

According to Det./Sgt. Terrence McGrath, the coroner's report puts the time of death as before midnight on Sept. 6. According to McGrath, police still do not know who fired the shots. The gun, found at the scene, was not registered., McGrath said, but was identified by a family member as belonging to Wiles. No note was found and there was no sign of forced entry into the apartment, police said.

According to McGrath, the Greenbelt police had responded to a call from this address last month and had taken Wiles to Prince Georges Hospital Center on an emergency committal for psychiatric evaluation.

The results of the tests on the gun and other physical evidence are expected to be available in about two weeks from the time they were submitted on Sept. 7, police said.

"To Your Smile"

by
Ray Vidal, D.D.S.

What is "tooth sealing"?

The chewing surfaces of back teeth have many irregular grooves, called pits and fissures, which are highly susceptible to decay. Even thorough brushing and the use of fluorides can not completely eliminate the chance of cavities developing in these areas.

It is now possible to coat these grooves with a special material (sealant), thus keeping out food debris and bacteria. The treatment, however, is not 100% effective and some of the sealant may chip or wear away and have to be replaced periodically. It must be stressed that sealant is not a replacement for proper brush or regular check-ups. In addition, any tooth showing early signs of decay can not be coated with sealant.

In combination with brushing, flossing and fluorides, sealants offer an additional means of preventing dental decay. Consult your family dentist to see if sealants can be beneficial to your child.

GHI committees assist and advise the Board of Directors and are vital to the democratic functioning of the cooperative. Committee members lighten the Board's burden by studying issues and making recommendations. In short, committee participation strengthens the co-op. Currently, there are three standing committees as follows:

- Architecture and Environment — concerned with all aspects of GHI homes, yards, commons, and additions and modifications.
- Member and Community Relations — plans and arranges special GHI functions such as receptions, home and garden tours, and coordinates GHI's participation in community affairs such as the Labor Day Festival.
- Finance — concerned with the financial records and affairs of the Corporation, including recommendations on the selection of auditors with scope of services, and the annual GHI budget.

MEMBERS INTERESTED IN JOINING A GHI COMMITTEE FOR THE TERM SEPTEMBER 1988 THROUGH AUGUST 1989 MAY FILL OUT THE FORM BELOW AND RETURN IT TO THE DIRECTOR OF MEMBER SERVICES BY SEPTEMBER 28. THE FORM MAY BE DROPPED IN THE DEPOSITORY OUTSIDE THE GHI OFFICE BUILDING.

Partial Listing Based on Information released by the Greenbelt Police Department

Det/Pfc. James Parker obtained an arrest warrant for a nonresident male for an armed robbery which occurred on Aug. 4 in the 400 block of Ridge Rd. The warrant was turned over to the Sheriff's Department for service.

An incident of indecent exposure occurred on Sept. 6 at about 1 a.m. in the 9100 block of Springhill La. The victim heard a knock at the patio door and drew back the curtains. The man who was exposing himself was described as a white male in his 20's, 5'10" and 165 lbs., black hair, wearing a dark T-shirt and jeans. The man fled when the victim screamed.

Officer Carl Schinner, during a routine traffic stop on Sept. 6, observed that the driver and four other occupants of the car appeared extremely nervous. Schinner told them to remain in the vehicle but they all got out. With the assistance of Pfc. Thomas Keifline, the driver and other occupants were searched and a container of parsley laced with suspected PCP was found. A search of the vehicle revealed other containers with suspected PCP. One suspect was arrested and charged with possession of a controlled dangerous substance. The man, a nonresident, was turned over to the Department of Corrections on $5,000 bond.

Hearing on WMATA Rise in Parking Fees

The Washington Metropolitan Area Transit Authority (WMATA) will hold a public hearing on September 19 at 7:30 p.m. at the Kenmoor Middle School, 2500 Kenmoor Dr., Landover on proposals for increasing rail parking fees to finance the construction of additional parking spaces at many stations. Funds generated by the proposed increase in parking fees would be used in conjunction with Federal, state, and local funds to offset parking expansion or other costs related to improving passenger access to the rail stations.

Organizations or individuals wishing to be heard on this proposal will be given the opportunity to present their views. To have names placed on a witness list, individuals and representatives of organizations are asked to furnish, in writing, the name, address, telephone number and organization affiliation, if any, to: James M. Miller, Secretary, WMATA, 600 Fifth St., N.W., Washington, D.C. 20001.

Others present at the hearing may be heard after those on the witness list have testified. Each speaker will be limited to five minutes. For further information call 962-1092.

Dr. Frank Pisciotta, Gastroenterologist

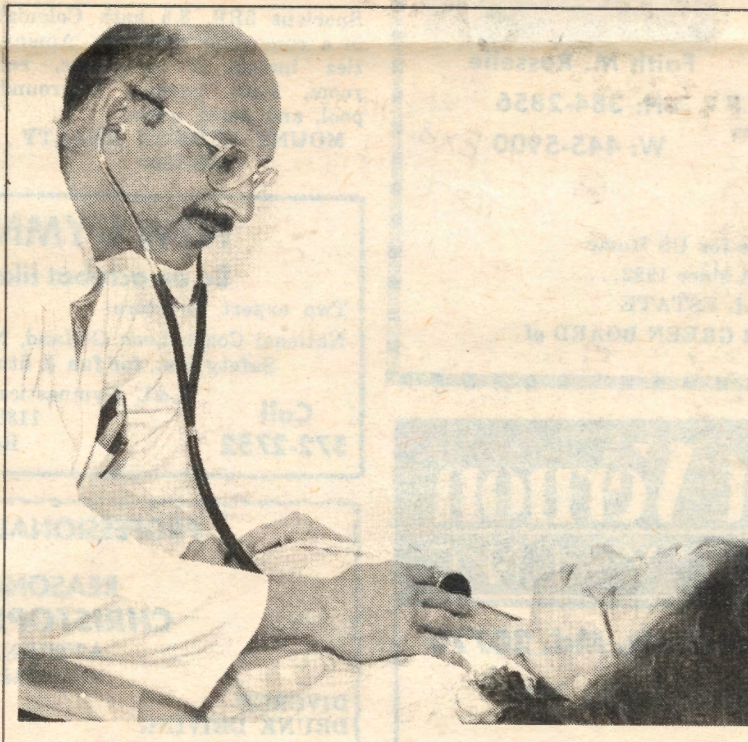

Listening To Your Body's Language

The human body is often likened to a machine, but there is no other machine that functions so effectively and efficiently. The seemingly simple act of processing food requires enormous coordination of systems within. When something goes wrong, the body sends out signals to warn us.

Two common signs of a digestive system in trouble are diarrhea and constipation. Others include stomach pains, painful swallowing, heartburn, nausea, cramping, unexplained weight loss, discoloration of tissue or the presence of blood in the stool. Usually, symptoms go away by themselves, but sometimes they signal a more serious problem than simply having eaten the "wrong thing."

Gastroenterologist Dr. Frank Pisciotta says, "For some 20 million Americans, minor digestive upsets are a daily problem. And according to the National Institutes of Health figures, another 20 million are chronically ill with serious gastrointestinal disorders. Symptoms are the digestive tract's way of telling us how it's functioning. Heartburn, for instance, is a pain or burning sensation that usually begins behind the breast bone and works its way up into the chest. Almost everyone suffers from occasional bouts, and changing eating habits can help dramatically. However, if within a week's time self-care measures don't help, it's time to seek medical advice.

The acids caused by heartburn can actually erode the esophagus and cause painful ulcers. Your doctor can likely prescribe something to prevent it."

"Common sense is the key," he continues. "An occasional stomach ache is probably normal. Modifying your eating habits might help, or getting more rest may be the solution. If the symptoms persist, it's a good idea to check it out with a physician. Many patients wait too long for the symptoms to disappear on their own. By the time they seek medical advice, the problem has advanced to a more complicated stage. An example which costs thousands of people their lives every year is that of attributing blood in the stool to hemorrhoids. Repeated irregularities in the bowel may be a message that something is seriously amiss."

Most digestive diseases are highly treatable in their early stages, including malignancies. Early tumors can usually be effectively removed with little or no discomfort by a simple outpatient procedure called endoscopy. Dr. Pisciotta, who also treats patients with weight control problems, has offices that include on-site lab, X-ray, and endoscope facilities, so there is no undue disruption of the patient's daily routine. Should there be a need, he has hospital privileges at many of the area's finest facilities.

He states, "We often see patients who have suffered for weeks before they come in, thinking that the problem would 'go away.' Our staff is trained to understand the importance of early treatment, so when someone calls, we accommodate them right away. A thorough evaluation and program of treatment, if needed, begins immediately."

Dr. Pisciotta, who is a graduate of the Universities of Maryland and Texas Medical School and trained at institutes including Hahnemann Medical Center and Hospital in Philadelphia; M.D. Anderson Hospital and Tumor Institute in Houston; St. Mary's Hospital at the University of Rochester in New York and Washington Hospital Center in Washington D.C., prescribes preventive measures. "Eat slowly," he advises, "and as your mother always told you, chew your food well. Have plenty of high-fiber foods in your diet, drink alcohol only in moderation, don't smoke cigarettes, and be aware of any changes in bowel habits. If you have doubts concerning the seriousness of a condition, see a doctor. Ignoring symptoms for long periods of time can wind up to be very costly in terms of your health. When your body talks, listen."
